Please note: Inclusion in the Wakefield Top 100 Companies listing is based on objective criteria using company accounts published in the Beauhurst database prior to March 2026 and does not imply the endorsement of the partner organisations listed above.

WAKEFIELD TOP 100 2026-2027

HOW THE LIST WAS COMPILED

BACKGROUND

Unlike previous editions of this listing, the Wakefield Top 100 in 2026 was compiled using as its source the Beauhurst database which contains a variety of information on every private company in the UK and Germany (approximately 13 million companies). The information includes regulatory and company information, financials and transactions, people, growth, ESG (environmental, social and governance), innovation and risk indicators. The information comes from a variety of sources including accounts filed at Companies House (for the UK). The Beauhurst database is the only source used to derive the metrics in the listing.

Strict parameters were used to derive the set of companies from which the Top 100 were ultimately drawn. In terms of geographical location, we selected from the Beauhurst database all active companies with a registered office address within the Wakefield region (as per the NUTS 3 level definition). The relevant data was downloaded from Beauhurst on March 16th, 2026; any data available in the Beauhurst database after this date was not included in this edition of the Top 100 list. To ensure a Wakefield focus, company websites were scrutinised and any company whose website indicated a head office outside of Wakefield, or no major Wakefield presence, was removed.

METHODOLOGY

This is the third compilation of the Wakefield Top 100 Companies Listing and it is based on the methodological approach used in the previous Wakefield editions (as well as in all previous editions of the Kirklees Top 100 for which there have now been 7 annual publications). Specifically, the ranking is derived from the following indicators: staff head count (i.e. number of employees); turnover; growth in turnover between the latest and previous years; profit before tax; and shareholders' funds. Each of these indicators is ranked highest- to lowest-performing and then these rankings are summed. The final position is determined by ranking the sum of ranks. In effect, each of the five metrics carries equal weight in determining the final ranking.

The period over which the ranking applies is determined by the latest information held in the Beauhurst database and filed by each company in the Wakefield list and this is indicated in the brochure. Where we identify subsidiaries and sister companies, we applied a consistent approach to ensure that the highest or largest company (in terms of revenue) in the hierarchy was retained, so long (of course) as the registered office was in the defined Wakefield area. Companies deemed to be charities or in the education sector, or with turnover less than £1000 or with non-numeric data were removed from the data set. No businesses were offered the option of being included (or not).

Emeritus Professor Jill Johnes, Huddersfield Business School

ECONOMIC CONTEXT

Companies across the globe continue to face uncertainty and turmoil and the businesses in Wakefield are no exception to this. Global challenges, alongside uncertainty over tariffs and changes introduced domestically such as increases in the National Living Wage and National Insurance contributions, are impacting operating costs, and putting upward pressure on inflation and ultimately interest rates.

But it should be noted that not all of these external events will impact on the performance of companies in this year's list which is inevitably backward rather than forward looking. In terms of this list, it should be remembered that each company's data is a specific snapshot (indicated by the date in the "Latest Account Date" column) and so the extent of the impact of precise external factors on businesses varies by company.

WAKEFIELD CONTEXT

As always, the Wakefield Top 100 showcases the variety of businesses thriving in the area and as expected, the type of businesses doing well can vary with the changing economic environment. We can see considerable diversity amongst the Top 10: while the majority fall into the Manufacturing or Professional, scientific and technical activities SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) code groups, alongside these we see companies in the financial, information and communications, wholesale and construction areas. The variety of sectors broadens as we go down the list and Wakefield continues to benefit from an array of businesses from a wide range of sectors.

LIMITATIONS

This list does not claim to indicate each business's economic importance to the Wakefield geographical area. It is based on five specific metrics which are deemed to be indicators of success. All metrics contribute equally to the final ranking. The list can therefore be seen as a means of showcasing and celebrating business activity in the Wakefield region. Unfortunately, not all companies' complete set of data are included in Beauhurst and some (significant) businesses located in Wakefield do not have a registered primary office in the region. Such businesses which therefore might expect to be in the list do not appear for that reason, yet their contributions to Wakefield may well also be substantial.

Since its inception in 1997, Card Factory has grown from a single store into the UK's leading specialist retailer of greeting cards, gifts and celebration essentials. The company's journey has been defined by innovation, resilience and an unwavering commitment to offering customers quality products at exceptional value.

Card Factory's story began when Dean and Janet Hoyle identified a gap in the market for affordable, high-quality greeting cards. Opening their first shop on Teall Street in Wakefield, they laid the foundations for a business that would become a great retail success story.

In its early years, Card Factory focused on refining its product range and developing a unique value-led retail model. By offering an extensive selection of cards for every occasion alongside gifts, wrapping paper and partyware, the business quickly established a loyal customer base and expanded across the UK.

The company's continued investment in technology, logistics and product development has enabled it to grow into a nationwide retailer with more than 1,000 stores. Since joining the London Stock Exchange in 2014, Card Factory has continued to strengthen its market-leading position through both organic growth and strategic investment.

They have also expanded their presence in key overseas markets via strategic acquisitions and partnerships. These investments have broadened the company's reach across Europe and North America, creating new opportunities for growth while enhancing the efficiency of its international operations.

The business has also continued to invest heavily in digital transformation, enhancing its online offering and customer experience while expanding its personalised card and gifting services.

Sustainability remains an important focus, with Card Factory continuing to reduce plastic packaging, improve the recyclability of its products and working closely with suppliers to source materials responsibly. Nearly three decades after opening its first store, Card Factory remains proudly rooted in Wakefield while serving millions of customers across the UK and beyond.

2. PELICAN ENGINEERING GROUP

Established in 1919, Pelican Engineering Group is a business that has been at the forefront of commercial vehicle engineering for more than a century.

The business was founded by Ernest Crump following the First World War after he used his army discharge pay to establish a company converting surplus military vehicles for civilian use. Named after his regimental mascot, the Pelican, the business soon established itself within the commercial vehicle sector and in 1934, became one of the UK's first official Foden truck dealers.

More than 100 years later, commercial vehicles remain at the heart of the business through its DAF and MAN truck dealerships, supporting operators across Yorkshire with vehicle sales, servicing and parts.

A major milestone came in 2014 when Pelican became the sole UK and Ireland importer and distributor for Yutong buses and coaches, one of the world's largest manufacturers of buses and a global leader in zero-emission vehicle technology.

Innovation continues to drive the company's success. Alongside its vehicle sales and aftersales operations, Pelican has expanded its portfolio to include electric vehicle charging solutions, energy storage systems and IMI-accredited electric and hybrid vehicle training.

In July 2026, the company broke ground on a new 40,000 sq ft National Parts Distribution Centre, purpose-built to support its growing network of Yutong buses, coaches and electric trucks.

3. PLASMOR (HOLDINGS) LIMITED

Founded in 1959, Plasmor has grown into one of Britain's largest independent concrete products manufacturers. The business supplies a comprehensive range of concrete blocks, paving products and building solutions to the construction industry across the UK.

Plasmor was incorporated on the site of an old lime-burning quarry on Womersley Road, Knottingley, where founders Antony and Pat Slater established the business. From these early beginnings, the company has steadily expanded through investment, innovation and a commitment to meeting the changing needs of the construction sector.

During its early years, Plasmor grew alongside the rapid expansion of housebuilding in the UK, initially manufacturing standard breeze blocks using Furnace Bottom Ash (FBA) from nearby coal-fired power stations. As demand increased, the company invested in new manufacturing facilities, including additional block plants and expanded production capabilities, establishing itself as a leading supplier of concrete building products.

Today, Plasmor manufactures an extensive portfolio of more than 300 concrete products, including building blocks, architectural masonry and concrete block paving solutions. Its established brands, including FIBOLITE, AGLITE, STRANLITE and PLASPAVE, are used across residential, commercial, industrial and public sector developments, supporting projects ranging from housing schemes to major construction programmes.

4. DUNHILLS (PONTEFRACT) PLC (HARIBO UK)

> A leading name in the UK confectionery industry.

The roots of Dunhills can be traced back to Pontefract, where the Dunhill family cultivated liquorice on land surrounding Pontefract Castle. By the 1760s, local chemist George Dunhill is reputed to have combined liquorice extract with sugar to create the first 'Pontefract Cake', a confectionery icon that has become synonymous with the town and remains one of Yorkshire's most enduring food traditions.

As demand for Dunhill's products grew, the company expanded beyond traditional liquorice, developing a wider range of confectionery products while maintaining a reputation for quality, craftsmanship and innovation.

A major milestone came in 1972 when German confectionery group HARIBO acquired a majority stake in the business, completing the acquisition in 1994 and establishing HARIBO UK.

The company's commitment to the region has been reinforced by HARIBO UK investing in a £35 million expansion to its manufacturing operations, which opened in June 2026, delivering a new purpose-built warehouse, alongside additional production and packaging capacity, designed to support future growth, increase storage capability and modernise operations.

Alongside investment in its facilities, HARIBO UK continues to focus on product development, launching new varieties and seasonal ranges. The business also continues to improve the sustainability of its operations through initiatives focused on energy efficiency, packaging improvements and responsible sourcing across its global supply chain.

5. ULTIMA FURNITURE

After searching the market and struggling to find a high-quality kitchen at a competitive price, husband-and-wife team Alf and Clare Ellis decided to design and manufacture their own. What began as a small family business in 1982 has grown into one of the UK's leading kitchen manufacturers.

The business began with the opening of its first 1,490 sq ft showroom and continued growth led to the acquisition of a purpose-built manufacturing facility in South Kirkby in 1992, followed by further expansion with a second nearby manufacturing site in 2009.

Recognising the changing way consumers shop, Ultima became an early pioneer of online kitchen retailing, launching DIY Kitchens in 2003. The brand transformed the traditional kitchen-buying model by allowing customers to purchase high-quality, British-manufactured kitchens directly online, combining competitive pricing with a wide choice of designs, colours and finishes.

Investment in manufacturing technology has been central to Ultima's success. A significant £3.5 million investment in automated paint spraying technology created one of the UK's largest and most advanced kitchen paint-finishing facilities, strengthening the company's ability to deliver a high-quality, bespoke finish at scale.

During its development, Ultima continued to expand its product range beyond kitchens, introducing bedroom furniture and other fitted furniture solutions.

Following the period covered by this profile, Ultima Furniture Systems announced that it had entered into an agreement to be acquired by Howdens Joinery, one of the UK's largest kitchen suppliers. At the time of the data download, Ultima remained an independent business and the achievements, investments and developments outlined above reflect its progress prior to the acquisition.
